

Leogane Family Health and Research Center

Family Health Ministries will build a 100,000 square foot health center in Leogane, Haiti, to serve women and children who can not afford to travel and/or pay for services in Port-au-Prince.

The new center will be located on a bypass near the local bus station, approximately an hour from the capital on the southern coastal plain, in an area without medical facilities that serve the indigent or that offer specialized care.

The approximate US$10M facility's two phases will be built over a five-year period. The center will be staffed by local healthcare providers, visiting administrators, and regular visiting healthcare provider teams. On-going operating costs are estimated at $60K initially, expanding to $150K annually by the time the entire facility is completed.
